FAITH
By Edgar A. Guest

These days are trying.
There's no denying
There's much of sighing
About our pains.
But birds are winging
The sky and singing
And laughter's ringing
Where faith remains.

Little is altered!
Though we have faltered
Let this be psaltered
In merry strains.
Though plans miscarry
And troubles harry,
Such blows we'll parry
While faith remains.

Our faith still strong is!
We'll right what wrong is!
Life's pathway long is,
And snow and rains
May beat in our faces,
But rich with graces
And sweet, the place is
Where faith remains.

* * *

Give credit where credit is due.

* * *

Why is it so hard for so many of us to say a few words of praise to those who deserve commendation and are sadly in need of encouagement? Why are so many reluctant to scatter a little sunshine along the Road of Life as they go along day by day?

* * *

Forming the habit of saying a word of cheer to all whom you come in contact with is well worth the effort and the results are far reaching.

* * *

It is amazing how everyone reacts to a few words of praise.

* * *

I know a chap who for many years has made it a fixed habit to drop a few words of encouragement and cheer with all whom he meets. When he goes into a grocery store he most invariably remarks on how attractive the store looks; how attractive the goods on the shelves When he goes into a restaurant he expresses appreciation of the meal as he passes out and pays his check In hotels he never fails to express his enjoyment of the stop he has made as he checks out at the desk When he purchases a hat, or a pair of shoes, or a new necktie he always has a few nice things to say to the clerk who waits upon him.

* * *

Now perhaps you think this is foolish. That it is not at an uecessary. That there is no obligation to show courtesy and consideration like this. But if you could see the super-service this particular chap gets in all the places he does business, you would change your mind and understand that courtesy and thoughtfulness does pay.

* * *

Giving credit where credit is due, and showing consideration to others is a distinctive mark of culture, good breeding, refinement and high character. If you doubt this win the confidence of any city barber, bootblack, waiter, bell-boy, taxi driver or anyone else who rubs shoulders with the public all day long. You'll find that even your most uneducated public servant quickly classifies all who he comes in contact with and has a remarkable memory for remembering all those who show courtesy and consideration.

Whether you realize it or not, you have a reputation in this world for either being selfish and self-centered, or—of being thoughtful of others. And this reputation which you are building day after day, is what you will be remembered by when you are dead and gone.

* * *

Scatter a few words of encouragement and cheer each day. It doesn't cost a cent and it all helps to make this little old world a better place to live in.

'BE MINE TONIGHT' IS FEATURE AT MAJESTIC AT RENO NEXT WEEK

A special invitation to the people of Truckee to see "Be Mine To night," famous musical picture starting Sunday at the Majestic theatre in Reno, was extended today by Manager Tompkins of T & D Jr enterprises, through the columns of the Truckee Republican.

"Be Mine Tonight" will start Sunday for a limited run. Prices will not be advanced although seats will be reserved and are now on sale.

Praised by Critics

The picture is a musical comedy, rich in classical as well as popular selections. Settings are in Italy and an Alpine village and are superbly executed. Critics the nation over hail the production as the most beautiful and artistic yet presented to the American public. Its showing in Reno prior to its appearance in many metropolitan centers is said to be an opportunity which comes all too seldom to theatre goers.

On the whole the picture belongs to a superior order of light musical drama, and is a delightful contrast to the too frequent jazzifications of serious musical compositions.

HOMER L. ROBERTS

HOMER L. ROBERTS, NEWSPAPER MAN OF CAPITAL, DEAD

One of the Most Brilliant Writers on the Pacific Coast. Stories Well Known To Republican Readers

Homer L. Roberts, widely known newspaper writer and manager of the California Press Service at Sacramento, passed away suddenly at his home in the Capital City June 7. Roberts had just returned to his home from the Sutter hospital, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis a little more than a week before, when death came from pulmonary embolism, a clot in the blood stream.

It was believed Roberts was on his way to recovery and he was discharged from the hospital. Death came within an hour after he had reached his home.

Roberts came to Sacramento in 1926 as manager of the United Press, a world-wide news organization. He held that position until last session, when he organized his own news service bureau, known as the California Press Service, which serves a number of California newspapers, among which is the Truckee Republican.

Roberts' state political writings as well as news stories are well known to Truckee Republican readers, since he was a special writer to the Republican for many years while he was manager of the United Press office in Sacramento, of which the Republican was a member for several years.

Roberts was born in Vale, Oregon 34 years ago, and followed his father, who was a publisher, into the newspaper profession.

After his graduation from Oregon State College, Roberts was an instructor in journalism at that institution. Later he was connected with several papers in the northwest having charge of the publishing of some.

He came to California to work on a newspaper in Santa Rosa, and his coverage of the death of Luther Burbank, plant Wizard, attracted wide attention. Later he joined the United Press.

Roberts had "covered" four sessions of the state legislature.

Roberts is survived by his widow, Mrs. Inez Roberts, and his infant daughter Nancy, as well as two brothers, Kenneth and Rolla Roberts, both state employees, and his mother, Mrs. C. L. Roberts of Sacramento.

Funeral services were held Friday from the chapel of James R. Garlick in Sacramento. Burial was in the Odd Fellows lawn cemetery. Pall bearers were former United Press associates and newspaper writers.

He was a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

Now that summer is with us again the "ole swimmin' hole" at Donner has suddenly become popular again. Among those who have been tempted to swim in its placid waters are Misses Claudia Bick, Frances Filipcic, Dorothy Filipcic, Yvonne Gaiennie and Emma Daley.

Gino Giovannoni as Nanki-Pooh and Lovey Edmunds in the role of Yum-Yum furnish the love interest. Supporting the leads in principal roles are Phil Lees, Pooh-Bah, the haughty courtier; Rufus C. Nevada County Taxes Will Be Reduced $1.63 If Voters Adopt Riley Plan

Proposition No. 1 On June 27th Ballot Eliminates County School Tax And Guards Against Excessive Governmental Spending By Imposing Limitations

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 15—(CPS)—Without announcing a definite stand one way or the other, Vierling Kersey, state director of education, has released a statement showing California counties' taxes will be reduced $37,611,435 if the voters adopt the Riley-Stewart plan, Proposition No. 1 on the June 27th ballot.

Nevada county school taxes, his report shows, would be reduced $89,204.25 permitting a general tax rate cut of $1.63.

Kersey made no attempt to advocate or oppose the Riley-Stewart tax plan, but confined himself to a dispassionate review of what the return of utility properties to local rolls, the essence of the new plan, would mean to counties and to schools.

"The principal effect which the amendment will have, if enacted," he said, "on the support of public schools will be to eliminate all present constitutional requirements for the levy of county taxes for the support of elemenatry and high schools.

"County and general taxes therefore would be lowered by that amount, which is $30 for each average daily attendance in elementary schools and $60 in high schools. The rates or levy in the individual school districts, of course, would not be affected.

"In other words, the present matching requirement, which costs the 58 counties an annual total of $37,611,435 to equal the state apportionments, would be discontinued. Instead, the state would furnish approximately twice the amount it now does, relieving county government of virtually all of the burden of supporting schools.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL OPERETTA PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE

Delightfully fresh singing and dancing, coupled with intelligent direction, made the Grammar School presentation "The Love Pirates of Hawaii,' 'a treat to all who witnessed it. The cast was well chosen and showed careful training. Comedy, of course, was the keynote and the interest never lagged.

Frankie Giovannoni, as the Pirate Chief, Thelma Hacket, as Dorothy Dear, and Ellen Sanders as Miss Primer, were outstanding while the rest of the cast gove them capable support. The various dances of Eva Moro, Mildred Saunders, Elfie Edmunds and Mary Giovannoni were an added feature, while the well-drilled chorus of Hawaiian maids, and pirates, functioned with vivacity and smoothness.

The audience which filled the auditorium to capacity found the operetta a great success and great credit is due to those who prepared and assisted the presentation, as well as to those who so ably took part.

BLUE SKIES AND SUMMER WEATHER BRING VISITORS

Everybody is smiling these days, and there's reason enough. Perfect weather. The kind you read about but find nowhere only in the Truckee Tahoe-Sierra Region.

While the East has been sweltering under a terrific heat wave, and many deaths reported, and down in the Sacramento Valley the thermometer has been playing tag up around the 110 in the shade mark up here in the Sierra we have been having "just right" weather, registering not more than 88 at mid-day and the nights cool and refreshing.

The intensely hot weather down in the valley has sent an influx of visitors up to this region, and there has been considerable activity along the business area.

HOMER L. ROBERTS

The passing of Homer L. Roberts, one of the most well known and highly respected newspaper men on the Pacific Coast, is a severe shock to the newspaper fraternity, and brings sadness to the hearts of his fraternity brothers in Sigma Delta Chi.

It is, indeed, a tragedy for the profession to lose so highly capable a man in his very prime.

Homer Roberts was a most unusual chap. A gentleman in every sense of the word. A man ever eager to be helpful; ever thoughtful of others; clean, upright, honorable and absolutely dependable and loyal. A man of high ideals, and with sufficient courage to fight for them.

It was a privilege and a pleasure to know Homer Roberts. A most inspiring individual.

Death wrote finis to his career at the age of thirty-four, just when he was rising to the supreme heights, but the tender memory of this most delightful and loveable gentleman, will linger in the hearts of all those who knew him, for all time to come. The world is a much better place to live in for the contribution which he made and his inspiring influence.

HOBO vs. BUM

According to Dan O'Brien, king of the hobos, there is a vast difference between a hobo and a bum.

"A hobo," says "King" O'Brien, "is a casual and migratory worker. A worker. An economic asset. Floating, to be sure. But an asset. Self-sustaining whenever possible. Law-abiding, as much as any other citizen is law-abiding these days, and—a gentleman."

"A bum," he states," is something else again. He's a congenial and habitual loafer. Anti-social. A barnacle and a parasite. A defeated man. Ignorant. Vulgar. No pride. And a tramp is a bum who wanders instead of panhandling in one place. I'm giving you the exact definition. In a looser sense anyone who is out of work and broke is a bum."

According to His Majesty—"King" O'Brien, a hobo loves leisure and the freedom to go where he wants to, when he wants to. But—he's willing to work for his freedom.

Maybe the "king" is right! At any rate, who would have the audacity to question a "king?"

HIGH RATE OF HOMICIDE

Statistics from 180 American cities reveal a national murder rate of 10.8 per 100,000 population for 1932. That rate happens to be about 216 times as high as England's.

The rates vary greatly in different cities, with the South making a worse showing than any other section. Memphis, for example, has the highest of all, with 54.2 homicides per 100,000. Cities with more than 100,000 population have higher rates than those under that figure, suggesting that as population is concentrated the causes leading to murder are aggravated. There are cities with no killings at all.

There are many causes for this disturbing homicide rate. A chief one is too easy access to weapons, particulraly firearms. Inadequate public provision for taking care of mental cases is another. Gang warfare has contributed a generous quota.

CRICKETS AND LEASES

A curious case involving the classification of crickets as insects or as something more attractive was tried recently in the Municipal Court in Flushing, L. I. A tuba player was disturbed by the chirpings of crickets in his apartment. He immediately moved out and justified the breaking of his lease on the ground that the building was suffering a "plague of insects."

The owner of the building contended in court that, entomologically speaking, crickets might be insects. Legally they might be bugs. Actually they were nearer household pets. They were cheerful singers; many persons liked them; they had been written about agreeably by Mr. Dickens in a story called "The Cricket on the Hearth." It almost seemed, before the argument was finished, that the renter not only should move back to the aparment, but that if he were a really good sport, he would pay extra for the crickets.

The judge decided that the cricket is a more or less "romantic" and "intellectual" creature and therefore should not be classed, science notwithstanding, as a bug. Some people who have no use for bugs in general really enjoy the presence in the home of crickets, therefore no one should complain about them.

Such a decision opens the way to many perils. But after all, why break a lease to escape crickets. Why not go in for insect powder and flit?

A PRAYER
By Edgar A. Guest

Grant us, O Lord, these for our need:
The strength and courage for the deed;
The vision that can see beyond
The joys of which we're all so fond
And for tomorrow work and wait,
Though now is trouble at the gate.

Grant us that humor that can smile
Though care besets us for the while.
Let us not whimper, purple lipped,
That we of pomp and sham are stripped,
But let us play our parts as men
Until success is ours again.

Lord, through the hard days and the long
Let us remember to be strong;
Teach us that calmness which can see
How fleeting pleasure has to be.
Grant us to recognize and know
That sorrows come and sorrows go.

Lord, after anguish and despair
Teach us that follow mornings fair
Hearten us all our parts to play.
From loss let no man run away,
And in the end grant us to see
Just how much richer we shall be.

Capitol News Letter

(California Press Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 15—(CPS)—Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance, has been wielding the economy axe so ruthlessly lately that he has all the state officials scared.

In fact employes at the state printing plant are so awed by Vandegrift that they are afraid to have a clock cleaned despite the fact that it was last cleaned and adjusted in 1893, just 40 years ago.

It still runs, anyway.

Headed by Governor Rolph, state officials turned out en masse Friday to pay tribute to Homer Roberts, capitol newspaperman, who died suddenly last week after an appendicitis operation.

In addition to the governor, who was a personal friend of Roberts, the following state officials were among those who attended the funeral service:

State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson, Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, State Forester M. B. Pratt, State Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly, State Director of Natural Resources Dan Blood, Eric Cullenward, assistant director of public works; Associate Justice Rolfe L. Thompson of the third district court of appeal and State director of Finance Rolland A. Vandegrift.

It isn't generally known, but the state department of education officials, while apparently supporting, in a luke-warm fashion, the Riley-Stewart tax proposal which is proposed on the June 27th ballot, are secretly worrying about the nigger in the woodpile.

While the schools are taken care of handsomely in the Riley-Stewart plan, the pedagogues are fearful lest there is something in the proposed constitutional amendment that hasn't been disclosed yet.

"Those fellows," said one high department official last week, and he referred to the ordinarily reactionary interests that are behind the amendment, "have never been on our side yet. I wonder why the sudden change of heart."

Incidentally, if the Riley-Stewart plan fails to obtain the approval of the voters, the department will do its darndest to get the legislature to hop onto the public utilities for about $8,000,000 more taxes for schools. It will be a battle royal if, and when, it comes.

After a series of hearings that developed a number of bitter controversies, Governor Rolph finally vetoed the bill which would have placed an 8-cent tax on each pound of oleomargarine manufactured with foreign oils. The measure was aimed particularly at Philippine cocoanut oil. The governor ponted out in his veto message that such a "tariff" bill would injure seriously an extensive trade between California and the Philippine Islands.

Your Good Health

Caring for and Curing Eczema, the Annoying Skin Disease

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

THERE are many forms of eczema and every form is a torment. There are seemingly many causes and every cause is more or less obscure. The condition is one of inflammation and the development is of a catarrhal nature. The particular form of the eczema may be always the same with the same person or it may vary indefinitely, one variety following another in very sudden changes. First of all it is an eruption on the surface of the skin, usually angry-looking, sometimes moist and weeping sometimes dry and scaly.

TO BRING about an attack of eczema, there must be in the system some agent which causes a peculiar sensitiveness of the skin and there must also be a directly exciting cause of the eruption. In some cases, a particular worry or nervous excitement will be the immediate cause and the attack may be ushered in by a chill. People who have rheumatism or gout are predisposed to skin inflammations from probably the same cause. The blood is over-charged with acids and the eliminative organs have been over-worked.

IF THERE are any specific organisms that cause the trouble, it is still necessary that the system provide a suitable medium in which the organisms can grow. There is asthma, too, whose victims are already miserable enough, but which is frequently found in company with eczema. There isn't very much difference between acute and chronic types of the trouble. It always itches and burns, and looks red and feels hot. There is more or less oozing of serum from the sores of the eruption and the state of moisture or dryness varies.

* * *

OBVIOUSLY, the treatment must be both internal and external. Since we have begun the use of allergy tests, it is possible to trace the exact origin of certain cases but the origins are too numerous for all to be avoided. The diet must be confined to simple nourishing foods. If a nervous condition is at fault, sedatives are prescribed and rest required. The inflamed surfaces should be treated to relieve the irritation and covered when possible to avoid reinfection. Some of the most baffling cases arise from the simplest causes, such as flour, dust, powder or feathers, and the utmost effort must be made to escape these causes. When the eruption is of the dry and scaly type, the skin grows hard and is inclined to crack open.

* * *

CHAPPED hands are really a form of eczema. The fissures must be kept clean, since trey afford an excellent opportunity for the entrance of outside infections.

WISE WOMEN MAKE CHIC COIFFURE APPEAR CASUAL TO ADD CHARM

By JACQUELINE HUNT

THERE would be many more lovely coiffures if women knew something about setting their own waves. In the ordinary beauty shop very little attention is paid to individual types of beauty and the little tricks and touches that will emphasize that type of beauty. Perhaps some waves are wide and some close together, according to the wish of the patrons, but the general method of parting and waving is standardized, so when the several heads are finished they look pretty much the same.

MISS HUNT

Study yourself carefully from all angles. Note the shape of your head, the bulges and flat places and general contour. Study yourself also full length and see if your head is nicely proportioned in comparison with the rest of your body. And think what little tricks will give your head a better contour. Perhaps a little swirl on the crown of your head will hide that unattractive flat place. Perhaps a high arrangement of your hair or a short coiffure will reveal a beautiful neck and shoulder line that you never noticed before.

You can take the time to try different arrangements — to try dips here or there to soften the contour of your face, or a little curl over your ear to give a debonair, just-happened-so touch. It is no longer fashionable for a woman to look as though she had just stepped from her hairdresser's — every wave and ringlet plastered into it sappointed place. The informality of summer clothes does not harmonize with such a coiffure. And this is a break for the woman who likes to fuss with her own hair

Of course, you do not want your hair to fly wildly about your head, but you do want a soft, casually well-coiffured head of hair and you need a permanent to work on. Let's begin with your rinse, since you will want to set your wave immediately after your shampoo.

Use vinegar or lemon juice in your final rinse water—especially if the water is inclined to be hard. The gentle acids in these preparations will cut away any curds of alkali and insure perfectly clean hair that is easy to handle. Lemon juice is also mildly bleaching and is therefore a favorite of blonds who like to keep the golden glints in their locks. Remove as much water as you can by patting with dry towels, then shake your hair in the sunlight until it is almost dry.

Then, if you must use a wave-set lotion, apply a small amount to your slightly damp locks and press the waves into place, keeping them there with clips, or waterwave combs. The newest invention for women who make that fasten onto the ridges of their own waves, are little clips the waves and pinch them into place. They are being sold in drug stores and five-and-ten-cent stores, so you will have no trouble finding them. Use either the little curlers that look like miniature curling irons, or hairpins, to keep the curls and ringlets in place if you have the short, curly coiffure that is the vogue at present.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of Nevada and Northern California convened for their annual Union meeting in Sparks, Nevada, Monday at 10:00 A. M., Mrs. T. J. Barrett president of the Sparks organization presiding.

After an all day session, 130 members motored to Meeks Bay where a delicious banquet had been prepared in the spacious dining room of the Meeks Bay Cafe under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. L. G Baker. Each guest was presented with a hand decorated memento of the occasion.

Mrs. Gladys Huyak of Sparks Nevada, acted as Chairlady, and presided at the banquet in a charming manner. Mrs. Clara W. Bradley of Columbus, Ohio, Grand President of the International organization who was guest of honor, gave an interesting and inspiring talk. Mrs Bradley spoke at some length on the accomplishments, aims and objects which have been successfully carried out in the past and are being planned for the future.

Mrs. Mamie Lee, of Cleveland Ohio, widow of the former president of the International organization was also an honored guest.

Represented in the meeting were members from Grand Junction, Colorado, San Francisco, San Jose, San Rafael, Oakland, Richmond, Sacramento, Roseville, Portola and Nevada.

NORDEN NEWS

By C. W. KRAMER

Much speculation is current about Norden this week after Harold G Boomer of Old Summit, who had as his companion Charles R. Vanderford of Norden, left the highway close to Norden service station on Thursday evening and completely demolished the top of his heavy Buick and occupants came out uninjured. While Boomer and his family were in Sacramento over Sunday they purchased a new Oakland Sedan and added to the already long list of new car purchasers this summer, which clearly demonstrates the confidence people with ready cash have for the future.

William J. Sellick Sr., accompanied by his wife, motored to Reno last week on a pleasure jaunt.

Jesse P. Tilson of B&B 108 Tunnell Six left for Sacramento on acute business for several days.

Frank R. Bennett of Norden is visiting friends at Truckee for a few days and attending to business.

Clarence Libby of Tunnel Six made a hurried trip to Truckee and Boca last week on business. He was accompanied by his wife.

Extra Gang No. 2, which was located at Tunnel Six for several months, has moved to Floriston where it will sojourn indefinitely.

Fong Woo of B&B 106 and Jim Leung of B&B 108 were hosts at a large Chow Mein feed last week in honor of Extra Gang No. 2 which was moving away from these parts indefinitely.

On Hong of the Norden eating car was a business visitor to Sacramento last week for several days.

Mrs.C. W. Kramer, accompanied by her daughter Virginia and son Billy, who have been vacationing at Norden for the past three weeks have returned to their home in Sacramento.

The nearby streams have offered many rewards the past week to Norden anglers while they hooked several large trout ranging in size from three and a half pounds to six and a half pounds and were of the mackinaw and loch laven variety Among the lucky ones were Arthur Brown, Louis Featsent, Halford Hall, Joseph Casari, John Thorburr and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Libby

Louis Featsent of B&B 108 Tunnel Six has just cause to feel light of heart this week after many unsuccessful attempts to land any of the prize catches of trout when he came in on several different occasions with fish ranging from three and a half to five and one half pounds Louis says it is about time something got on his hooks as he has been patient and generous with his feed to them.

Charles W. Cory of Sacramento has relieved Charles Oltman as conductor of the Norden Fire Train according to seniority choice.

The home of Clarence Libby on Sierra Court was the scene of a very enjoyable card party recently when John Knsey and wife of Truckee and the H. G. Boomer family of Old Summit spent the evening. After several rounds of bridge, a buffet luncheon was served.

Charles P. Stephens and Elmer Eversult of Tunnel Six motored to Sacramento last week to visit relatives and friends.

Miss M. Vanderford of Sacramento is spending the summer at the home of her parents on Highway Boulevard, Norden.

Frank Briggs of Roseville, an ardent angler, is vacationing near Norden. Several years ago Briggs was a resident of these parts.

Edward Pelham, who recently came up from Yuba City to spend the summer at his home near Norden, was called to the valley on important business.

Mr. William Seitz with his wife and daughter, recently motored to Reno on business.

Joseph Casari and George Kading of B&B 108 Tunnel Six recently returned after spending several days in Sacramento visiting friends and relatives.

Line man Garrison of Norden spent a day or so in the Bay district on business.

A clever piece of sleuthing was demonstrated last Saturday when the Southern Pacific Special Officer Albert Pfaendler, with headquarters in Truckee, whisked his bride of a few minutes, the former Miss Gini, a popular young miss of Truckee, to Soda Springs where they boarded a west bound train for the Southern part of the state where they plan to spend ther honeymoon completely outdistancing friends and relatives who wished to shower them with rice. They were assisted in making their getaway by Mr. and Mrs. Scott Gordon of Truckee. The young couple are well known in these parts and congratulations a plenty go with them. They plan to make Truckee their home.

Engineer Burt Spanger of Roseville is relieving Engineer Fred Hickman of the Norden Fire Train.

The first wave of warm weather to strike Norden has been very successful for the electric refrigerator manufacturers and their respective agencies while five of the popular residents have either installed or placed orders for early deliveries wtih more prospects in sight.

J. Gordon Cran of B&B 108, who has been making his headquarters at Rocklin and Auburn for some time, is now residing at Tunnel Six indefinitely.

Harvey L. Bush, who has been at Willows for several days, is now visiting with his family at Tunnel Six.

O. Hensley of Norden has been making frequent trips to Gold Run where he is now working for contractors.

The State Highway Department is busily engaged in repairing the highway from Donner Lake through Norden and west from here and filling in the rough places that were caused by snow and water during the past winter. The highway is much smoother and more agreeable to travel upon and the warm weather will tax the road to capacity since the warm wave has arrived which was much delayed and is welcomed at this time.

OROVILLE, Cal., June 15—(CPS)—Dow Day of Harts Mills, near here, started to clean a well. While working he discovered a pair of spectacles and then recollected that 15 years before, a friend of the family had dropped the glasses into the well.

The spectacles were still in their case and apparently none the worse for their long immersion in the water.

$6,364 Accrues To Nevada County In Fines for Year 1932

Crime may not pay, but it brought an income of $963,099 to California counties last year.

The fines were collected for everything from reckless driving to peddling wtihout a license, and represent levies made against law violaters in superior, justice and probation courts.

Throughout the state the justice court fines headed the list with a total "revenue" of this kind amounting to $695,451. Superior courts, with the more serious cases usually resulting in jail or prison sentences, realized $70,079; probation courts, $17,024, and others, $180,543.

Los Angeles county led the list with the collection of $145,364 as a result of its large population, while Alpine county, wth few people, collected no fines at all.

SCORCHED YOUTH GRADUATES WITH SCORCHED COLLAR

COALINGA, Cal., June 15—(CPS)—When the ninth grade students in the local school were told they couldn't graduate unless they showed up at the exercises wearing a clean white shirt, one youngster became quite tearful, a few minutes before the start of the ceremony.

A sympathetic adult, inquiring as to the reason for the tears, was informed the youngster's mother was away and that he had washed his shirt, but didn't have an iron. His grown-up listener promptly borrowed an iron and the youngster graduated — with a badly-scorched collar, however.

FOR some strange reason, we must look to European chefs for unusual fish recipes. Perhaps it is because Americans have not yet learned to appreciate this delicious and beneficial food. The average American housewife serves fish perhaps once a week, while on the Continent fish appears on the menu twice daily in some form or other. For lunch it may be in the form of sardines, pickled or smoked fish, served as hors d'oeuvres The French dinner is never complete without a fish course preceding the meat.

Scovitched Fish

Let's see how some of our neighbors prepare their fish. The recipe for scovitched fish comes from Cuba. Buy one large red snapper, clean it, remove the skin and cut into pieces three inches square. Salt the fish lightly, fry it in one-fourth cup of olive oil and remove from the pan. Cut one onion, two green sweet peppers, one hot pepper one small bud of garlic, into fine strips. Put one cup of olive oil into the frying pan and let get very hot; then pour in one cup of vinegar and add two bay leaves, four cloves and salt to taste, let boil for two minutes and pour the sauce over the fried fish, or simmer all together a few minutes. Serve at once.

French Onion Soup

If you have never made onion soup the French way, I think you should try it at once. Rub individual earthen casseroles with garlic, then fry six Bermuda onions to the golden point in one-half cup of olive oil and one-half butter. Distribute the fried onions in the individual casseroles and cover with a good soup broth made from scraps of meat, bits of celery and a few mushrooms. Season with salt and pepper. Let the soup simmer slowly for one-half hour and then arrange squares of crisp toast on top of each serving of soup. Sprinkle thickly with Parmesan cheese and put under the broiler long enough for the cheese to melt and brown slightly.

Filet Sole Marguery

For the filet sole Marguery get four large filets. Have the butcher remove the bones for you and boil them for twenty minutes with a small onion, a bay leaf, a sprig of parsley and a bit of lemon rind. Strain the juice and use it for poaching the filets with one-half pound cleaned shrimp, one-fourth pound mushrooms and—if you like them—one dozen clams. Season well with salt and pepper, butter and white wine. When the fish is done, remove, drain and arrange on a fireproof platter with the shrimp, mushrooms and clams. Keep hot while you make a sauce from the liquid in which the fish has cooked.

One-Fifth of All Football Players Injured Last Year

By JACK RICHARDS
(California Press Service Writer)
Special to The Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 15—(CPS)—Football last year in California injured more than one-fifth of all the high school boys who played it, and the 17-year-old youth proved to be the most susceptible to harm.

This was disclosed here in a report prepared by N. P. Neilson, chief of the division of health and physical education. Neilson made a special survey and found that of 13,559 boys who played in school games, 3,003 or 22.15 per cent were injured last year. However, 10,556 or 77.85 per cent, went through the season without injury.

Neilson's report, covering 281 high schools in California and prepared at the request of the California Interscholastic Federation, showed more than half of all injuries were bruises and sprained ankles, knees and shoulders.

The fact that 17-year-old boys predominated in the injury age groups had little significance, it was believed, because boys of that age play football more than any other group.

The federation requested the report to help it decide whether to reduce the age limit of football in high school from 21 to 19. Neilson did not make any recommendation but privately expressed the opinion the minimum age, now 12, should be raised to 15 and the maximum now 21, lowered to 19.

The principal factors causing injuries, Neilson found, are the condition of the playing field, the quality of the personal equipment worn by the player; physical and mental condition of the player; knowledge of the player has of the game; competence of instruction; age range of players on teams; size of school; competence of officials; number of games on the schedule; weather conditions during the game; morale of the team and the desire of the team and coach to win at all costs.

Neilson said there seems to be little relationship between age and the type of injury, and the older a boy is the more apt he is to be injured, due largely, it is believed, to the fact that older boys play more often than younger ones.

FAIRFIELD—(CPS) — Less than an hour after he stole the car of Byron Davis from its parking place in Sacramento, Charles Smith, a sailor, was arrested by state traffic officers here. Smith was stopped for speeding, but the officers became suspicious when he told conflicting stories about the car's ownership.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 15—(CPS)—An appeal for statewide support of Californa's annual state fair has been issued here by Governor Rolph.

The governor declared economic necessity has forced curtailment of expenditures this year, but that the fair will be bigger and better than ever and merits the united support of all Californians.

"I cannot too tsrongly emphasize the need for a greater interest and support this ytar," the governor said, "and I ask it now so that the onward march of our westward empire may be unhalted."

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.

Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple: — a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.

Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.

DOG IS HOOKED WHEN BOYS GO ON IMAGINARY FISHING PARTY

SONORA, Cal., June 15—(CPS)—The next time James Musante sees a fish hook, he's going to look gently but firmly the other way.

Musante came across two small boys and a dog who was yowling loudly. An investigation disclosed the boys had been making believe they were fishing and one of the two hooks dangling from their line had caught the dog's nose.

Musante finally quieted the dog and started to cut the hook with a pair of pliers. Suddenly the dog jerked his head. The second hook went right smack into Musante's thumb. Dog and man engaged in an impromptu and painful tug-of war, which ended finally with the dog breaking away. Musante couldn't catch the two boys.

NUGGET CAUSES TIRE PUNCTURE

RED BLUFF, Cal., June 15—(CPS)—Frank Grimm, a local wool buyer, took his car into a repair shop here to get a puncture fixed.

The job didn't cost him a cent, however, because the mechanic discovered the puncture was caused by a gold nugget that had become embedded in the tire. The nugget was worth about $1.50 and Grimm believes he picked it up near Beegum on the Red Bluff-Eureka highway, where road work is under way.

'LISTEN TO THE MOCKING BIRD' DISTURBS IRATE SOUTHERNERS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 15—(CPS)—Life to the Beverly Hills police department lately has been just one noise complaint after another.

For instance, here's a cross section of the calls received by the desk sergeant one day last week.

No. 1—Complaint: "The people in back of us have a pen full of noisy chickens and we want it stopped, right now."

No. 2—Complaint: "Please, can't you officers do something about those————mocking birds that start mocking before daylight every morning?"

No. 3 — Complaint: (from irate male voice) "There's some noisy blackbirds down here by my house and I can't stand 'em any longer."

No. 4—Complaint: "Please send an officer down here at once. There's a man building a house at all hours of the night."

So now the desk sergeant is looking for some kind of an automatic silencer.

Taxes Are Slashed By Thousands Says State Controller

As definite proof that the sharp axe of economy was wielded in California counties last year, a report submitted by State Controller Ray L. Riley in Sacramento, discloses a $17,000,000 slash was made in special and district taxes.

Riley announced special and district taxes amounted to $73,168,097 for the 1932-33 fiscal year, as compared to $90,325,598 for 1931-32.

Nevada county's taxes of this nature increased from $42,291 to $50,563.

As a result of action taken by the legislature this reduction in special assessments may be even greater in the future.

The attack against the special assessment "evil" was led by the Southern California delegation in the assembly. This campaign led to the passage of a series of bills repealing many of the so-called "improvement" acts dating back to 1901.

While repeal of these acts will only prevent the over-burdening of property in the future, steps were also taken to relieve exisiting tax loads. Several measures were passed and signed by the governor, which, in effect, permit cities and counties to assume at least a portion of the special assessment burden in the event the improvement is of general benefit to the public. This provision would apply particularly to special road districts, proponents explained.

Most of the counties informed Riley their greatest slashes this year were in connection with school costs.

High school maintenance costs were cut from $31,085,322 to $23,540,516, a decrease of approximately $7,500,000. Elementary school maintenance costs dropped from $21,245,351 to $16,897,399, accountng for more than $4,000,000 or more. Junior college costs were cut from $3,492,303 to $2,877,725.

Few districts went in for new school buildings last year. Riley reported only $690,340 was spent in this fashion, as compared to $2,449,538 in the 1931-32 school year.

CHANGES IN POLICY FOR LOCAL GRADE SCHOOL ARE TOLD

"Unless drastic measures are taken to decrease the number of absentees when the Truckee Grammar School opens again in the fall, we shall be forced, according to school law, to dispense with the services of one teacher." This is the statement of William Englehart of the Board of Trustees.

Going on to quote figures to support this statement he added, "The average enrollment is 84.2; the average daily attendance is only 77.95 This means that about 7 pupils were out of school the entire term of 186 days. As the cost of each child's schooling for a year is $73.50, there has been a loss of $514.50 to this district because of absences.

"But in the future we are going to take all the means provided to us by the law to see that children are kept in school and not withdrawn for any paltry reason."

Two new teachers have been signed by the Board, Miss Cecelian Flynn of Newcastle, A. B. Chico State Normal, and Leland Laity of Truckee, A. B. University of Nevada.

During the summer the roof of the school house will be repainted and a cement walk laid from the steps of the schoolhouse to the walk outside the fence. The present Board of Trustees includes W. M Englehart, W. H. Laity, and R. A Tonini.

'SHE DONE HIM WRONG' IS BILL AT THE DONNER

"She Done Him Wrong" with Mae West in the leading role is booked for next Sunday night at the Donenr Theatre.

"She Done Him Wrong" is a lusty roaring melodrama of the Bowery, where men are men, and where women were hefty. Hefty, Miss West thinks is just the word for it, for the average Bowery chorus girl of the gay nineties period, her research disclosed, weighed 120 pounds and stood in the neighborhood of five feet, nine inches tall. The present day chorine, on the other hand, comes in 110 pound sizes and stands about five feet, three inches high.

It required a great deal of time and energy to locate enough girls of Bowery proportions in Hollywood to appear in "She Done Him Wrong." Some of them, in fact, had to be padded.

"She Done Him Wrong" was written, as well as acted, by Miss West She plays the role of "Lady Lou," a beer-hall singer with a host of male admirers, who provide her with diamonds in return for her favors. When Cary Grant, ostensibly the head of a neighboring mission, comes along, he fails to supply gems, but he does, on the other hand, provide a series of startling events.
